Ford And AMC Join GM In Cut Of Car Building

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and American Motors today joined General Motors and Chrysler in announcing production cutbacks over the next few weeks to match lagging sales.

Ford was the last of the four major automakers to make the announcement, and it came at board chairman Henry Ford II's annual review-preview meeting with the press.

American Motors, which has been having rough going in the market place with a loss of $12.6 million for fiscal 1966, announced earlier today it would cut back production during the next two weeks.

Sales Off 10%

Ford said his company had reduced December and January production schedules by about 22,000 cars "to bring car stocks in the U.S. in line with present sales rates."

Ford, GM and American Motors Tuesday announced their sales were down 10 per cent in the first 10 days of the month compared with the like period last year. But they said the sales rate was still the second best ever for the period. Only Chrysler, third ranking automaker, reported sales up over the record 1965 pace.

Ford said about half of its cutback would be accounted for by less overtime.

"We do not have any present plans for substantial layoffs, but we will have some short time," Ford said.

Holiday Weeks Short

"Many of our plants, for example, will not be working on Dec. 23 and 30, and our St. Louis assembly plant will be closed between Christmas and New Year's Day. We also expect to have some short time in January, particularly in the St. Louis plant and in Falcon, Fairlane and Mercury intermediate plants such as Lorain (Ohio) and Kansas City (Mo.)."

Announcement of cutbacks by Ford was the major piece of news to come out of the chairman's annual get-together with the press. With Ford was Arjay Miller, company president.

Some of the impact of this year's review-preview was lost because Ford made a similar talk Dec. 8 to a bankers conference in New York.

His remarks today were pretty much the same—"If people are still worried about rising living costs and the possibility of higher taxes, shorter work weeks and layoffs, many of them may put off buying a new car."

Britain Seeking To Keep Africa Blockade Free

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Britain sought today to dissuade African members of the U. N. Security Council from pressing for a tight oil embargo on Rhodesia which could only be enforced by a naval blockade of all of Southern Africa.

Britain's Lord Caradon asked for urgent consultation with the Africans after Uganda introduced amendments Tuesday to a British resolution calling for mandatory sanctions against 12 Rhodesian exports.

The amendments call on Britain to "prevent by all means the transport to Southern Rhodesia of oil or oil products."

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the 15-nation council last week his government would consider applying a limited oil embargo. Britain had in mind, however, a ban that would affect only Rhodesia and not involve a confrontation with Portugal and South Africa, which is Britain's fourth biggest trading partner.

Brandt Warns NATO: Danger Is Not Erased

PARIS (AP) — Foreign and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty organization met without France today and heard a warning from Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany that cracks in the alliance could provoke the Soviet Union into a fatal miscalculation.

Making his first appearance in allied councils, Brandt told NATO's "defense planning committee" that a first-rate crisis within the Western camp could lead Moscow to misinterpret the West's basic unity.

The "defense planning committee" is a euphemism for NATO minus France, a situation arising from President Charles de Gaulle's withdrawal from the integrated military structure.

Brandt, referring to the recent study of defense needs by U.S., British and West German officials, conceded that an attack by the Soviet Union is not now likely, but he warned that it is also not impossible.

The ministers were meeting to put the planning and management of their nuclear defense in the hands of an inner-core group of six or seven nations.

The move, blueprinted by U. S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, has a double aim:

—To give the West Germans and smaller European allies a voice in nuclear weapon policy and crisis management without allowing them direct access to the weapons themselves.

—To make it possible for the Soviet Union to join the West in an agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

The ministers met as the Defense Planning Committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to form two groups within the alliance.

The first will consist of the 9 or 10 member nations which want to share generally in nuclear weapon management: the United States, Britain, Canada, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy, West Germany, Turkey, Greece and possibly Norway. France, Portugal, Denmark, Iceland and Luxembourg have chosen to stay out.

The second and more important group will consist of four permanent and two or three rotating members. The four will be the United States, Britain, West Germany and Italy. The two or three other places have still to be allocated, mainly because there has been some jockeying for the real or imagined prestige.

The Defense Planning Committee, which met in advance of the annual conference of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers, was formed by France's 14 partners to cope with the extraordinary situation created by President Charles de Gaulle's withdrawal of French forces from NATO's military network.

France no longer contributes men, material or money to the integrated defense system, and the allies no longer allow France to share in their military secrets.

Reds Claim American Planes Bombed Hanoi

Mansfield Plan Of Long Truce Has Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield wants the United States to propose a 45-day or longer truce in Vietnam for the purpose of negotiations. But two of his Southern colleagues counter that the war should be stepped up.

The Montana Democrat's comments were among a series made on Vietnam strategy Tuesday.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, would say nothing about the war as he returned for Christmas and a talk with President Johnson.

Mansfield, long a foe of stepped-up military effort, said the United States should offer a "cease-fire and stand-fast" from Christmas through mid-February in hopes of getting North Vietnamese leaders to negotiate a settlement of the war.

Sens. John C. Stennis, D Miss., and Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., however, called for more military effort.

Hollings met for 25 minutes with Johnson shortly after returning from an inspection trip to the war area.

He urged bombing of 75 more military targets in North Vietnam but admitted, "I don't think I've changed the President's mind."

Stennis told a dinner audience in Jackson, Miss., that a Johnson request for $10 billion in additional war funds this fiscal year would be inadequate. The [illegible] estimated his request of Congress next month might be about $9 billion to $10 billion in supplemental funds.

Stennis urged an all-out military effort and said "much bloody fighting lies ahead and it may take years to win a complete military victory. These guerrillas are far from being defeated."

US Spokesman Says No Report Of Capital Hits

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Communists charged U.S. planes with attacking Hanoi today for the second time in two days. There was no immediate comment from the U.S. command, which earlier said it could "not confirm or deny" the Communist claim of a raid inside Hanoi Tuesday in which women and children were killed.

A U.S. spokesman said pilot reports on raids against North Vietnam today had not been received at the Saigon headquarters.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported from Hanoi that American planes raided the North Vietnamese capital for about an hour and a half today.

"As yesterday," the Tass correspondent said, "they bombed the right and left banks of the Red River, the embankment and the area of the bridge linking Hanoi with its suburb Zyalam."

Earlier an official U.S. spokesman in Saigon, while refusing to confirm or deny the Communist claim of a raid Tuesday, said he had no reports indicating American bombs landed on the North Vietnamese capital.

Attack Rail Yard

The spokesman reported that American bombers attacked a rail yard six miles northeast of Hanoi and a truck depot five miles south of the Red capital. He said both targets were in swamp and rice paddy areas well outside the city proper.

The North Vietnamese charged that U. S. pilots bombed and strafed "many quarters inside and near Hanoi" and said the raids constituted "an extremely dangerous step of war escalation."

The organ of the North Vietnamese Communist party, Nhan Dan, called on its army and the Viet Cong to "avenge the people of Hanoi." After the last American raids near Hanoi early in December, the Viet Cong attacked Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase.

Eight MIGs

U. S. pilots sighted 9 or 10 Communist MIGs in the Hanoi area during the raids Tuesday, a spokesman reported, and tangled with two of the late-model MIG21s.

The spokesman said the MIG fired air-to-air missiles and their cannon at a flight of four F105 Thunderchiefs about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi but that no hits were scored and the American planes did not return the fire.

U. S. headquarters reported one Air Force Thunderchief was shot down by enemy ground fire. Hanoi claimed four U. S. planes were downed.

A lull in the ground war in South Vietnam continued with no significant engagements reported.

Terrorists Attack

U.S. headquarters reported a 155mm howitzer shell accidentally exploded during firing by a U.S. artillery unit five miles northwest of Tay Ninh City, killed two American soldiers and wounded two more. The shell exploded in the tube of the artillery piece, a spokesman said.

Earlier Tuesday a U.S. Marine F4B Phantom jet pilot dropped a bomb short of his target and hit a village 34 miles southeast of Hue. Five Vietnamese civilians were killed and three others were wounded.

Two more grenade attacks in the Saigon area were reported, raising to at least five the number of terrorist attacks in and around the capital this week. Two Vietnamese policemen and an American soldier were wounded; one suspect was caught.

Publishers Get Summons:

Kennedys Delay Book

NEW YOR K (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has served a summons on Look magazine and the publishing firm of Harper & Row in an apparent effort to block publication of a book about her late husband's death.

Author of the book, "Death of a President," is William Manchester who returned from Europe Tuesday. He said he was "not informed on what is happening" but was "puzzled by the disturbance."

William Attwood, editor-in-chief of Look, acknowledged receipt of the summons Tuesday but said the magazine was going ahead with its plan to serialize the book.

Mrs. Kennedy chose Manchester to record the events of the assassination "in the interest of accuracy" but later was reported disturbed by his use of some of her personal recollections in the book.

A source close to the Kennedy family said objections to the book centered on a section which implied that the Kennedys did not care for President Johnson. The source said it was feared this could create insurmountable tensions between the two political clans.

Harper & Row had scheduled publication of "Death of a President" for March, but announced last weekend the date had been advanced to April because of revisions by the author.

Serialization in Look is scheduled to begin in the Jan. 10 issue.

Canada Airlines Strike Deadline Is December 20

OTTAWA (AP) — A nationwide strike of airport traffic controllers has been called for Dec. 20. The walkout would close Canada's major airports to almost all commercial traffic.

Announcing the strike deadline, K.D. Lyon of Winnipeg, president of the 650-member Canada Air Traffic Control Association, said Tuesday night that the controllers had voted 578 to 63 to strike to back up their demands for more pay from the government. The strike vote was taken after negotiations with the government broke up following 26 months of talks.

Coppolino On Stand Today

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino took the witness stand today to defend himself against a charge of strangling retired Army Col. William E. Farber.

There had been indications that the defense counsel was trying to persuade Coppolino to take the stand before resting the defense case.

Defense lawyer F. Lee Bailey of Boston was understood to have talked to Coppolino in his jail cell Tuesday night about whether the 34-year-old anesthesiologist, hypnotist and writer would take the stand.

Barred by judicial ruling from discussing the case cut of court, Bailey shrugged off all questions as to whether a decision had been reached.

Two defense pathologists testified Tuesday that Farber's sudden death in 1963 could have been caused by a heart attack brought on by what they diagnosed as severe arterial sclerosis.

Dr. Joseph Spelman, Philadelphia's chief medical examiner, and Dr. Richard Ford, medical examiner from Boston, further claimed that Farber's larynx, or voice box, was fractured after his death — possibly by morticians or by grave diggers who exhumed his body.

Airline Accord With Pilots Ends Threat Of Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Settlement has been reached between National Air Lines and members of the Air Line Pilots Association, averting a strike set for Thursday.

The pilots will get substantial improvements under the new contract, said Leverett Edwards, National Mediation Board member. Details were withheld until the agreement is made formal in writing.

National, based in Miami, flies a transcontinental route from California south to Florida, and between Boston and Key West.

'Michigan Christmas In Vietnam'

Romney Urges Giving

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Tuesday announced a "Michigan Christmas in Vietnam" project and asked the state's citizens to aid voluntary organization in helping Michigan military personnel and the people of South Vietnam.

Proclaiming the week of Dec. 18-24 as the project week, Romney asked citizens to act "through established voluntary organizations to unite in giving something of themselves — tangible gifts requiring a measure of personal sacrifice—to the people of South Vietnam and to the Michigan men now serving there."

Work Through Groups

The governor presented representatives of several voluntary groups at a news conference and recommended that persons participating in the project work through such organizations.

Recalling the success of last year's statewide project to send a gift to each Michigan serviceman in Vietnam, Romney said the cost of a similar program would be prohibitive this year due to the buildup of U. S. forces in the Southeast Asian country.

"It is not in the realm of realism to duplicate that program," Romney said, pointing out that while last year's program cost about $100,000, a similar program this year would cost between $300,000 and $400,000.

Aid Country

Pointing out that most of the voluntary groups represented provided services and aid principally of benefit to the South Vietnamese people, Romney said citizen aid will help U. S. troops in their dual role of building a country as well as fighting to win a victory.

"I believe every family in Michigan should give consideration to how they can make a contribution," Romney said. "There is not one that can't."

List Organizations

"It would be a wonderful thing if business, union and professional organizations elected to make it a project—much better than holding a Christmas cocktail party this year," Romney said.

The governor also encouraged Michigan citizens to write Christmas letters to servicemen.

"Everyone in the state can readily identify a family with a serviceman in Vietnam and write him a letter," he said.

Organizations participating in the program include:

American Friends Service Committee, American National Red Cross, Care, Catholic Relief Services, Christian Children's Fund, Foster Parents Plan, International Rescue Committee, Lutheran World Relief, People-to-People Health Foundation, World Relief Commission, Community Development Foundation, United Services Organization (USO), Vie Nam Christian Service, World Rehabilitation Fund Inc., World University Service, and Seventh-Day Adventist Welfare Service.

Walk-In Blood Donors Invited

The Red Cross blood bank for Delta County needs walk-in donors at Escanaba today and Thursday if the quota is to be met.

On Tuesday at Gladstone, opening day of the three-day procurement clinic, there were 63 units of blood collected — 14 short of the day's quota of 77.

Gladstone donors may come to Escanaba today and Thursday and their contribution will be credited to the Gladstone total, the Red Cross reported. All they need do is advise that they are from Gladstone.

Walk-in donors saved the day at Gladstone. There were 39 appointments made but only 27 were kept. There were 38 who came in without appointments but two were rejected as donors — leaving the day's total collection at 63 units.

In Escanaba the blood bank clinic is at the Teamsters Hall today and tomorrow.

The closing hour today is 7:30 p. m. Donors are encouraged to come in without an appointment before the clinic closes.

On Thursday at the Teamsters Hall the clinic hours are 10 a. m., to 3 p. m. Appointments are not necessary.

The quota in Escanaba is 115 units on each day and for the three days the total quota is 307 units of blood.

Through the Red Cross blood bank, blood is supplied free to Delta County residents. The only charge is that made by hospitals for administration.

North Central Airlines is approaching the two million mark in passenger boardings for 1966. By carrying 159,513 passengers in November, boardings for the first 11 months have reached 1,884,684, or 27 per cent more than for the same period in 1965. The airline expects to carry well over two million passengers by the end of the year.

Bay College Provides

Degree Start In Home Area

One of the important functions of Bay de Noc Community College is the provision of the first two years of normal four year courses leading to bachelor's degrees. Bay College and the other community collegec in Michigan perform this service; but varying degrees of emphasis upon the different functions are made by the individual colleges for their communities.

In the first three years of operation ending in June this year 140 individuals were full-time students in transfer programs and have transferred their credits to various universities. In addition, 174 other individuals completed partial programs of study intended for transfer.

One third of the full time students received the associate degree from the college, while the others did not meet all of the requirements for the degree and transferred their credits without a degree. This is a normal ratio for communits colleges where some of these transfer students were unable to complete minor requirements for the degrees. Approximately one quarter of all students entering a transfer program do not complete that particular program because of grades. Some of these people change to other programs of study.

Students have sucessfully transferred a full two years of credits to the following institutions in Michigan: Michigan Tech, Northern Michigan University, Central Michigan University, Western Michigan University, Eastern Michigan University, University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Andrews University and Ferris State College.

In addition, students have transferred credits to four other colleges in Michigan, institutions in Wisconsin, and to four other colleges in various locations. The programs of study for these students have included elementary and secondary education, liberal arts, engineering, business administration, various science majors, and a few selected specialties.

Twenty students received scholarships from the universities for their junior and senior years. These scholarships were awarded on the basis of their grades at Bay de Noc Community College.

The students have received full credit for their courses successfully completed in the planned programs for transfer. Most universities do not accept credits carrying a D grades for transfer, because they do not indicate a satisfactory foundation for aditional work.

In other cases, where a student changes his major, it is likely that some of the courses will not be the proper courses for the new field of study. For example, a limited number of electives are allowed in many fields and, therefore, a student may be allowed to transfer more electives than are needed; hofever, he must still make up the required courses and thus end up with more than the normal four years of credit.

This is true whether a student transfers from a community colege or spends all four years in the university. Chancellor R. J. Van Pelt, ex-president of Michigan Tech, recently remarked that 80 per cent of all students require more than the minimum four years of attendance to complete the bachelor's degree requirements.

Rainbow Trout Program Gains, Biologist Reports

Conservation Dept. fish biologists continue to remain optimistic today over the prospects of establishing steelhead (rainbow trout) runs into the Days and Bark Rivers of Delta County.

Dave Johnson, fish biologist of the Escanaba District, told the Delta County Sportsman's Club which cooperated with the conservation department in "Project Rainbow" last summer, that rate of growth of the trout planted is very good.

He said it is possible that there may be a few fish returning to the streams this spring, but that larger runs are expected in the springs of 1968 and 1969.

"Many of the trout planted may still be in the streams and won't move out into Little Bay de Noc until this spring," Johnson said. "Generally, they remain in the bay for about two years, which would indicate a return to the streams in the spring of 1969."

Sportsmen Get Fish

He said, however, that some of the fish which moved out faster—or possibly some from Operation Bootstrap plants three years ago or Wisconsin plants—will undoubtedly show up this spring.

A total of 38,000 steelheads were planted in the Days River in three different plants in the summer of 1965. The Bark River was planted with 30,000 fish.

Both plants were made by the department of fish procured through the efforts of the Sportsman's Club.

Johnson explained that steelheads and rainbow trout are the same fish, the basic difference being that steelheads migrate into a larger body of water and return to streams, while rainbows remain resident in the streams. The steelhead takes on a more silvery color when it leaves the stream.

At time of planting, the fingerling trout ranged in size from 1.3 to 1.5 inches.

Johnson said 26 trout taken in a collection Sept. 28-29 from the Days River ranged from 4.5 to 8.7 inches. On Oct. 3, some 10 to 20 trout ranging from 5 to 9 inches were observed in a pool in the Bark River.

Growing Well

"The steelheads are growing very well," Johnson said. "Likewise, they have been moving both up and downstream to some extent in the Days River. In the Bark River, it appears from reports that some steelheads have already moved out into the bay and a large number of these fish will have attained smolting size by this spring and are expected to move downstream into the bay."

Johnson said because of inadequate check points, it has been difficult to determine how many of the trout have moved and how far from the original planting sites.

The department has requested a counting weir installed on the Days River for help in evaluating success of the program. The weir (more of a trap and not electrical like lamprey weirs) would allow the department to get a more accurate check on numbers of fish moving downstream and also on "spawners" coming upstream.

He said a similar counting weir would also be desirable on the Bark River, but currently the department has not obtained a site.

Key To Program

Key to the entire program, he said, is getting the fish to migrate into Little Bay de Noc, feed and grow and then return to the streams to spawn.

"I hope," he said, "that in the not to far distant future people will be coming to Delta County for rainbow runs rather than going north."

Johnson also reported on progress of the Schaawe Lake and Black George (Hock) Creek rainbow program from reports prepared by fish biologist Clifford Long of the Escanaba district office.

He said the rainbows appear to have done well in both Hock Creek and Schaawe Lake, although other species of fish have moved back into the system after poisoning treatment in 1965. Long recommended installation of a fish barrier and two-way counting weir be installed at Schaawe Lake at the construction immediately above the outlet for further evaluation of the program.

1967 Crop Season Preview

More Corn And No Pasture Degree Start In Home Area

The agricultural specialists from the universities and the businessmen who deal in farmer needs like feeds, seeds and fertilizers get together occasionally to see if they have the same signals for the game coming up.

They did it again at the Big R in Powers on Monday night.

Michigan State University sent a crops specialist and a soils specialist from its U. P. Extension Center at Marquette and some county Extension directors to meet with 25 farm supply dealers of the mid-Upper Peninsula area on needs for the 1967 growing season.

Don Reid, farm crops specialist, talked about the varieties of oats, barley, red clover, alfalfa and corn that the ag specialists would be recommending to U. P. farmers in the new year.

Don Thurlow, soils specialist, told about the analysis of fertilizer that would be recommended for different growing problems.

There were, said Joseph Heirman, Delta County Extension director, no radically new suggestions, but several changes in direction for the U. P. farming got accent at Powers.

Lag in Fertilization

Delta, Menominee and Dickinson counties are all interested in potato growing and this usually calls for about equal parts of phosphate and potash in fertilizer. (Commercial fertilizer is usually designated by the proportions of Nitrogen-Phosphate-Potash.)

Because of the increasing use of irrigation in U. P. potato growing there will be need for more nitrogen in fertilizers for that purpose.

The U. P. continues backward in the use of fertilizer. It has a quarter million acres of land cleared for agriculture but not half of it is being fertilized commercially, showing a huge potential for U. P. crop production not being used because of neglect of fertilization.

Farmers were asked to set crop goals, like 400 or 500 bushels of potatoes per acre, and have fertilizer formulas tailored by the farm suppliers and blending plants to those needs. This applies to grains, too.

More Barley

Reid urged more growing of barley as a dairy ration, saying that it can provide more feed per acre than oats, which are the U. P.'s biggest grain crop. When barley fails in the U. P., he said, it is usually because it is planted too late. Farmers should plant their barley before their oats, he said, because it is a cold weather crop which can germinate just above freezing. It should be planted on well-drained soils.

U. P. dairymen tend to favor oats because they weigh more per bushel than barley and because it's easier to combine oats and if barley isn't dry when it goes to the bin it heats.

Malting barley isn't favored in the U. P. because rain near harvest discolors it and spoils it for this usage, but farmers were told they could gamble on malting barley and then use it for cattle feed if it failed to qualify for malting.

More Corn Urged

Recommended were the old favorite, Gary oats, the top variety in Delta County for 10 years, with two newer varieties recommended for trial: Coachman and AuSable. Larker continues the favored barley variety; Vernal is tops in alfalfa, and in hybrid corn DeKalb, Jacques and Michigan Variety 202 are favored.

Reid said U. P. farmers should be raising more corn for silage. New hybrid varieties can be planted earlier and will produce 15 tons of silage per acre easily, which is a lot of feed.

Reid urged farmers to plant more acres to corn and to green chop crops and feed them to herds in the feed lot instead of turning cattle out to pasture, which, he said, is wasteful and apt to leave the farmer short of feed and with resulting shortened milk production in a drought.

Hermansville

Christmas Party

Approximately 50 ladies attended the joint Hermansville-Faithorn Christmas party sponsored by the St. Anne's Altar Society on Tuesday evening in the Parish Hall at Hermansville. Before sitting down to the pot luck dinner, Rev. Gervase Brewer, blessed the advent wreath centerpiece on which two of the three purple candles were lighted. The last will be lighted during the third week and the pink candle during the last week of Advent. The wreath was furnished by Mrs. Adam Ayotte.

Immediately following the supper, Steve and Nancy Framarin entertained the group with a series of accordion selections. Mrs. John St. Juliana Jr., sang a rendition of "The Birthday of a King", with Mrs. Frank Rodman at the piano. The group then joined in the singing of traditional carols. Gifts were exchanged. Mrs. Edward LeMaide was general chairman of the party.

In conjunction with the event, two slates were presented for election of new officers. Elected for 1967 were: President, Mrs. Edward Arnold; Vice President, Mrs. Mary Weaver; Secretary, Mrs. James Whitens; Treasurer, Miss Mary Miketinac. They will assume office in January.

Hermansville Public Schools will be dismissed for the Christmas holiday vacation at 12:30 p. m. on Wednesday, Dec. 21 and will reconvene on Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1967.

State Requires Permits To Build Logging Roads

LANSING — The State Highways Dept. today reminded logging contractors that they must obtain a permit to build logging roads and to pile logs or pulpwood on the state highway right-of-way.

"In the past year, considerabel damage has resulted from construction of forest access roads without thought to drainage, roadside appearance, and beautification," said Director Howard E. Hill. "The piling of forest products on the right-of-way has caused damage to ditches and often creates traffic hazards.

"The Highway Department hopes to provide better and safer access roads and working areas for loggers through use of permits."

Permits can be obtained from any County Road Commission or Highway Department District Office. The Highway Department has District Offices at Newberry and Crystal Falls in the Upper Peninsula.

Briefly Told

A Christmas party was held by Boy Scout Troop 409, which is sponsored by the Rotary Club, on Tuesday night. The boys exchanged gifts and presented gifts to Scoutmaster Clifford Reese, Assistant Dennis LaMarch and Junior Assistant Brian Krause. Thirty-seven boys attended. Lunch was served.

Traffic summonses Tuesday were issued by State Police to Lyle Pare, Rte. 1, Gladstone, failure to stop for railroad crossing with gas truck, and Thomas Haughey, K. I. Sawyer, speeding. Robert J. Brebner, 1424 N. 20th St., Escanaba, was fined $25, assessed $4.90 court costs and sentenced to two days in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while license was revoked.

The Republican Way

Republican governors meeting in Colorado and cheering the results of the Nov. 8 election which were so harsh on the Democrats, interpreted the change as not a political triumph for the GOP, but evidence that "a fundamental change has occurred in the attitude of the average American toward the practice of government."

The Republican governors saw a rebellion against "conformity imposed from Washington" and opined that it is not limited to the campus antics of students but that it extends deep into the fabric of the nation.

To take political advantage of this change in public opinion, the Republican leaders said that they would take a local responsibility in efforts to solve problems affecting the quality of life in America. It might be argued that the Democrats are in difficulty with public opinion because of efforts in this direction, albeit they were generated in Washington and rippled out from there.

* * *

The distaste of the American voters (complicated by an undefined unhappiness over the War in Vietnam) was generated more by the Johnson Administration's War on Poverty and Great Society program's failure to match in performance their high-sounding promises than by faulty concept.

The program got tarnished in trial. Congress bit off such a big chew of domestic improvement efforts that the government couldn't handle it effectively. And there was some distrust of the basic idea by persons who say that there are going to be the "poor" in any society, no matter how affluent, because they are merely the people with the least.

But there is a ferment in American life and the Republican leadership at the governors meeting cited a fact of life and a basic challenge to the political parties when it acknowledged it. America faces some great decisions on the quality of American life and neither political party will be able to ignore them.

* * *

The Republicans seem to be saying that they won't ignore the challenges of change and that they will meet them on the home front of local and state government. They haven't always done it up to now but they cannot be a great nor an enduring party by only opposing the Democrats, even the conservative mind must be dynamic in its own way to be politically effective.

The Republican governors say that they will address themselves actively to great problems like urban sprawl, job training and employment opportunities, health and mental health, water and air pollution, transportation, conservation, "economic deprivation" (poverty), racial discrimination, education and the population explosion.

These are most of the great problems facing America as it wrestles with its conscience and tries to find an ethic that suits modern affluence. Both parties have been working on these problems in various degrees, but their inclusion in a platform doesn't mean much; it is the accent in legislation and enforcement that really counts. Democratic efforts on some of these problems certainly contributed something to the party's Nov. 8 reverse.

* * *

The Republicans are suggesting that they will deal with the great issues nearer home than by the Washington route, but they are mindful of financing and are suggesting that Washington share federal tax revenues with the states. This would be a wholesome practice, but it will take some doing and even if done it would leave the states with some discretion about their use.

The federal welfare program has grown so huge and unwieldy because the federal government undertook services that the people wanted, but which the states denied. Everyone is familiar with the situation in which voters turn down local school millage and call for more federal aid. The GOP will find it has a problem of teaching political courage. It will have some problems of creating a solid front in its own ranks on such a platform, too, but so do the Democrats.

A BONED RIB ROAST of beef is carved and served from the House of Ludington's newly acquired Sheffield silver venison dish from the period of George III, circa 1815. The handsome engraved cover of the dish is missing here, but the belly tank for hot water to keep the roast warm is pictured, with the pouring spout at center. Yorkshire puddings are about the roast. Authentic U.P. Offering

Roast Beef Of Old England

By JEAN WORTH

It's much too late to introduce roast beef to American diners. About all that's left for the enterprising restaurateur is to excell in it.

This takes some doing. Some famed restaurants have been at it a long time and they have developed the roast to perfection and created a distinction in service that is as much remembered as the delight of the beef.

Simpson's-in-the-Strand, London, is the sort of eating house whose bill of fare pictures Charlie Brown, who was its head carver from 1879 to 1937. It stresses "Old English" and offers hors d'oeuvres including smoked eels and dishes including stewed tripe and kidney pie, and of course Dover Sole in the fish course and savouries including Welsh rarebit, soft herring roes and Angels on Horseback.

Simpson's is world famed for its roast beef and Yorkshire pudding. It's served from a cart that's wheeled to your table. The silver cover is rolled back and there's the roast, with a Yorkshire pudding straddling it like a great omelette. The House of Prime Rib in San Francisco has a similar service and a similar roast, without the accent on the pudding.

From Old Silver

Pat Hayes has served roast beef for all the years that he has operated the House of Ludington and made it one of the most famed dining places in the Midwest. He has become more famed for his steaks than his roasts and apparently he's out to change that. And — unable to add much that is really new — he's adding something that is authentically old.

Roast beef and Yorkshire pudding will be served to dinner parties from a newly purchased heirloom piece of Sheffield silver that is as genuinely Old English as silverside salt beef. The piece is a covered venison dish from the period of King George III, circa 1815.

George III was more famed, of course, for losing Britain her American colonies than for making Old England merrie with roast beef. He succeeded his grandfather on the throne in 1760.

Top Meat Course

The rare roast beef of old England is one of the world's most famed meat offerings. English cookery is usually rated inferior to French and Italian, but not by the British, of course. They don't want their meats served up with sauces that disguise their taste, like the French. The Englishmen wants his Yorkshire ham with a dash of English mustard. When he eats roast beef he wants the good, substantial beef of old England, raised on home pasturage, and he wants it to taste of itself, not of something else.

In the United States, beef is used much more extensively than it is in Europe. In France, because there isn't enough pasture for large herds of beef cattle, calves are slaughtered when young and veal and not beef is the staple of the daily menu. Since beef is very expensive, the manner of serving it typifies some of the basic differences between French and American cooking. France serves small steaks with a sauce or garnish and other cuts of beef are always treated to bring out the flavor.

Prime Ribs

Whether you call it roast beef or "prime" ribs — which last is a misnomer because "prime" refers to grade and has nothing to do with cut — the fame of the beef rib orbits around the world, like Tyros. The Japanese call it bif-tekki.

The rib roast includes the 6th through the 12th ribs of the 13 of the carcass. The first five from the neck back are part of the chuck section and No. 13 is included in the short loin.

The seven ribs in between which constitute this roast are considered by many epicures to be the most fully flavored oven cut in the whole range of beef possibilities.

While the standing rib roast has been a top choice of epicures for centuries, the approved method of preparing it for the table has changed.

Searing Method

Mary Ronald's Century Cook Book in 1895 suggested: "To roast beef on a spit before the fire is unquestionably the best method of cooking it: but as few kitchens are equipped for roasting meats, baking them in the oven is generally practiced, and has come to be called roasting. Dredge the whole meat to be baked, top and sides, with flour . . . Place in a very hot oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the meat is browned; then shut off the drafts and lower the temperature of the oven and cook slowly until done. Baste frequently."

Here the author was suggesting the French, or searing method of roasting. Modern cookery usually calls for preheating the oven to 450 degrees and then lowering it to 325. The beef should be brought to room temperature before roasting. Basting isn't approved of any more and the roast is salted and peppered after it has finished roasting and then allowed to stand in a warm platter for 10 to 15 minutes before carving.

Better Than Abroad

The House of Ludington's standing rib roasts weigh from 18 to 30 pounds and are roasted with the bone in. Pat Hayes never removes it all under any condition of service, because he — and most good meat cooks — think that a roast is more flavorful with some bone in. But when Pat prescribes for fine dining he usually orders a partly boned roast.

The roasting is at 350 degrees throughout and three and a half hours is enough for most roasts. But housewives are warned that this temperature is in an institutional oven and that home stoves take a different setting.

There's no gravy with the roast, it's served with only its natural juices. And the Yorkshire puddings are individual, not in a great yellow saddle over the roast, as at Simpson's. After all, he isn't trying to copy Simpson's but to outdo them, and the judgment is pretty apt to be that he does it.

Problems Of 2 Eras

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Highly puzzling to some president-watchers is the fact that Lyndon Johnson is given so little credit by millions of American voters for his massive legislative accomplishments.

It is common to say of the President that he steered to enactment major programs for education, health, housing and welfare which earlier presidents either could not get or did not want.

This is largely true. Yet the very nature of these programs —and the problems they are aimed at—may help to explain why Lyndon the Achiever is not running up a big score in the public opinion polls. With certain significant exceptions (pollution control, for instance) Johnson's catalogue of success is a roster of New Deal-Fair Deal proposals left undone by his predecessors.

Like an old man who lives beyond his time, the unsolved problems these programs attack have probably been with us too long.

In the steadily rising affluence of postwar America, the programs evidently have been accepted long since by millions of Americans as desirable and financially feasible.

Carried through Congress on the Johnson flood tide of 1965, the main items of his "Great Society" therefore were quickly banked by the voters as overdue entries.

Nor did the President get the credit expected from his vigorous sponsorship of the 1964 and 1965 civil rights acts. Huge as was their sweep, they were properly described as "catch up" assaults on problems festering in the land for a century.

"Catch ups" obviously do not have the thrust of bold breakthroughs. The beneficiaries have taken them for granted before they came, and are looking beyond to new things.

Here, perhaps, is the real heart of it. Johnson has achieved, in domestic social and civil rights legislation, what millions felt ought to have been done years ago.

The irony of his position is acute. Looking at the mountain he has moved, the mountain some others only chipped at, he hears countless Americans shout—"Not enough!"

Civil rights leaders who a decade back would have been tearfully grateful for a third of their 1964-65 gains call today for fresh advances that require a virtual make-over of U. S. society.

Needy, disadvantaged folk who 30 years ago revered Franklin D. Roosevelt for New Deal proposals less sweeping than some of Johnson's treat the President as if he were simply paying a delinquent water bill.

Lyndon Johnson, then, seems to have been caught in The Overlap. While he has been doggedly ramming through programs for problems yellowing with time, most Americans have had their sights fixed on their newer difficulties—criminal terror in their streets and houses, the polluted air and water, the clogging of traffic, the cost of everything.

The President has been fully attentive to these new problems, and has put through programs for some of them. But here his success has been limited, with tangible results hardly felt by most people.

A Medicare check in the mail is a welcomed reality to the beneficiary, and a proof of Johnson the Achiever at work. But it may be more than canceled out in the recipient's mind if it is stolen from his mail box.

The President really is being asked to meet the problems of two eras. His Great Society effort began the catch up on left-over difficulties from a prior time. If he can now crush crime, clear the air and water, unclog the streets and patch the big nick in the taxpayer's pocketbook, he just might still the cries of "not enough" and inch his way back up in the voters favor.

Jim: "When I was learning bridge I remember that you insisted that any time I was declarer at a trump contract my first thought would be about dummy's trumps and that I should not play even one round if I might need that trump later on."

Oswald: "If I had taught that to South he would have made today's hand. He won the club lead in dummy and led a trump to his ace. This was one more round of trumps than he could afford to play."

Jim: "South was probably too sure of his contract. After all, if everything went well South would be able to lose to the ace of diamonds and make the other 12 tricks."

Oswald: "After his trump lead to the ace, South made a valiant effort. He led his jack of diamonds and continued with a second diamond after East ducked. East led a second trump and South went up with his ace. Then he entered dummy with the remaining top club, discarded his losing club on the high diamond. Then he tried the spade finesse. It lost to West. West cashed his queen of trumps, led back the jack of spades and waited for his second spade trick."

Jim: "Had South started diamonds at trick two things would have gone about the same way except that West would never get the chance to lead his third trump and South would have been able to ruff his six of spades."

Oswald: "This hand also illustrates the old theory that when both sides play the same suit one of them is crazy. This time South was crazy and East and West smart."

Dilly Of A Dilemma Over A Tiny Mouse

Dear Ann Landers: A woman in our card club is one of the dearest people I know. I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world but she has mice in her house. Yesterday a little grey mouse ran across my feet during the card game and I thought I'd pass out. I managed to keep the discovery to myself but I was so nervous I lost $4.00. When the refreshments were served I couldn't eat a thing.

Should I tell her or would it be wise to send her a mouse trap anonymously?—DILLY OF DILEMMA

Dear Dilly: Say nothing, and don't send any anonymous gifts. Sooner or later someone in the family will learn that they have uninvited guests running around and something will be done about it.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to address this letter to "Veteran of Domestic Wars" — the poor little guy who is unable to give his wife sufficient physical attention because her timing is so bad. Imagine! He comes from work and she tells him the washing machine broke and it means a repair bill; or one of the kids needs dental braces and it will cost $600.

When DOES he consider the time right for such news? Or maybe she shouldn't bother him at all. She COULD tell the mailman or the lady next door, but I don't think they would come up with the money.

Does "Vet" believe his wife should wait until the first thing in the morning? No. That would ruin his whole day. Should she call him at work right after lunch? He'd hate that.

I say a wife's best bet is before dinner. She must catch him while he is still awake and before he grabs the newspaper and turns on the TV.

If "Vet" would write and tell us wives when is the best time to ask a husband for extra money without rendering him impotent I would be grateful. — JUST ME

Dear Me: If Vet sees this I hope he will respond because this is a question that only a husband can answer.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: That was a wonderfully wise letter from the woman who said we must not forget how important it is for parents to show their children they are loved.

My sister and I both suffered from emotional problems because we felt rejected. Our mother was angry with us most of the time. We seldom received a smile or a word of encouragement. Now, many years later I know why she was cold and uncommunicative.

Like so many other women, her husband paid no attention to her. She hungered for his love and approval and she never got it. I am reminded of something I read in your column, "The greatest gift a father can give his children is to love their mother." — NOW I KNOW WHY

Dear Friend: It's unfortunate that the insight to your mother's sad life didn't come earlier. It could have saved you some grief.

Children who are ignored or treated coldly often feel that they are inadequate — that something is wrong with THEM. How sad that they never learn the truth — that the real inadequacy lies with one parent or both.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PARKING

Parking has always been a problem in the downtown shopping area of Escanaba, as we all know. It has been this way as long as I can remember and I am sure many others can remember. But what has the city done to improve this? Nothing but to widen a few streets and install some more parking meters.

Escanaba does have a big shopping district but inadequate parking facilities to go along with it. Sure, you could park on 8th or 9th Sts., but who wants to walk in the cold for two or three blocks carrying packages and other items?

Why doesn't the city use some of the money received from the sale of the public gas utility and build one or two parking ramps?

The shoppers sure could use something more than the facilities offered and are entitled to it. A better solution would be a shopping center, but some feel it would hurt the downtown area too much. The downtown area needs a little friendly competition and a shopping center would be just the thing.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy gets the Rosanna Ruby, and the Harp Witch puts it in a magic necklace. Then the witch said Billy must not only destroy Goko but all the giants who live with him.

CHAPTER NINE

THE LAUGHING GHOST

Billy's teeth chattered so loud he was afraid that Santa and the Harp Witch might hear it. He was brave as any boy and he was ready to fight Goko the giant. But how could he fight Goko's brothers and his cousins and his nephews?

Santa was discouraged, too. "It can't be done." he groaned. "How can one boy slay so many?"

"He doesn't have to slay them!" rasped the witch. "There are other ways."

She told them about a powerful potion which mixed in the giants' food would turn them into pigs."

"Where are we to get this potion?" asked Santa.

"From the eyes of Ha-Ha the laughing ghost," wheezed the witch. "Make Ha-Ha cry and catch his tears. Three drops will be enough!"

"Why not use this marvelous potion on Goko himself?" exclaimed Santa.

The witch shook her head. "Goko is too powerful. He cannot be turned into any other creature."

The witch gave Billy a little bottle to hold Ha-Ha's tears and she gave Santa a pair of slippers that would take them to Ghostland in seven enormous steps.

Santa put on the slippers and Billy climbed on his back and off they went. With the first step they crossed the ocean. The second step took them over a mighty mountain range. Four more steps and they crossed four continents. The seventh step brought them to Ghostland where spirits and spooks and phantoms lived and no human ever goes.

Ghosts are happy creatures. They sing and play all the day. But Ha-Ha was the happiest ghost of the land. He was called Ha-Ha because he seemed never to stop laughing.

Santa and Billy found Ha-Ha swinging in a rope swing hung from a weeping willow tree. He was dressed in a white sheet that billowed around him like a sail. He was singing a laughing children's song.

How in the world could they get tears from such a joyful creature?

Santa told him who they were and why they had come. Ha-Ha said it was impossible to get tears from him. He had never cried in his life.

"Then," said Santa, "the moon will never rise again."

Ha-Ha laughed, "I don't like moonlight," he said.

"The giant will force the Fairy Queen to marry him," said Santa. "He will be King of all Fairyland."

"That's nothing to me," laughed Ha-Ha.

"The giant has vowed to capture me on Christmas Eve," said Santa.

"Ha-Ha!" laughed Ha-Ha.

"There will be no more Christmas," said Santa.

Ha-Ha stopped laughing. "No more toys? No more stockings? No more Christmas trees? Not even for ghosts?"

"Not for anyone in all the world," said Santa.

Tears came in Ha-Ha's eyes. They began to roll down his cheeks. "Never Christmas again!" he sobbed. "How sad!"

Billy held out his little bottle and caught Ha-Ha's tears as they dropped from his chin. In two minutes the bottle was full.

"It's all right now," smiled Billy. "Thank you for your help."

But Ha-Ha kept right on crying. "No more Christmas!" he sniffed. "How will we ever manage?"

"We will manage I think!" promised Santa and he strode out of Ghostland with Billy on his back.

Santa and Billy found Ha-Ha in Ghostland

They came to the cave where Goko the giant had hidden the moon. Santa took off the Harp Witch's slippers and gave them to the boy.

Then Santa said. "You have the magic words to unlock the moon and the ruby necklace and Ha-Ha's tears. This is all the help I can give you. I must return to Santa Land now for the Fairy Queen said the rest must be done by you alone."

Billy nodded solemnly. He clutched his wooden sword and went alone into the cave.

Snow Fighter

RIPLEY (AP) — William Kaiser, one of Michigan's foremost experts on snow removal, announced his retirement today as head of the Houghton County Road Commission.

Kaiser, 69, has served the department 48 years, annually supervising snow removal on 1,000 miles of roads from Kenton to Calumet in western Upper Michigan.

Many Great Lakes area communities, including Milwaukee, have sought his advice on snow removal methods and equipment. His major task was the winter of 1949-50 when a record 282.2 inches of snow covered Houghton County. Roads were kept open with few traffic tieups or weather attributed deaths.

A native of Red Jacket, now Calumet, Kaiser is a graduate civil engineer from Michigan Technological University. The commission named John Wealton, a civil engineer from Hancock, to replace Kaiser.

Big Cities Hit By Heavy Snow

By The Associated Press

A fast-moving winter storm swirled into New England today after dumping up to eight inches of snow on the big metropolitan centers of the mid-Atlantic states.

Heavy, wet snow snarled traffic from Virginia to New Jersey and closed many schools in the Washington, D.C., area. The capital recorded five inches of snow while its Virginia suburbs were blanketed by eight inches. One traffic death was blamed on the storm.

As the storm intensified over the Atlantic and headed northward, heavy snow warnings were posted for extreme eastern Pennsylvania, northwest New Jersey, southeastern New York and most of southern and central New England.

Forecasters said snow accumulations of six inches or more would be whippped into drifts by winds gusting to 40 miles per hour today in those areas.

On the opposite coast, heavy rain sent some streams in Oregon over their banks, flooding many roads. More rain, with snow in the high mountains, was expected to continue from the north and central Pacific Coast inland to the northern Rockies.

Mostly sunny and dry weather was forecast today for the rest of the nation, with warmer temperatures from the Gulf states through the Mississippi and Ohio valleys.

Volkswagen Cuts 100,000, In '67

WOLFSBURG, Germany (AP) —Volkswagen output will shrink by about 100,000 cars during the first quarter of 1967 as a result of the decision to stop work on 17 days, a company spokesman said Tuesday.

The production curb was ordered because of a sluggish domestic market, Heinz Nordhoff, chairman of the Volkswagen corporation had explained Monday.

The spokesman said total output in 1966 would reach about 1.7 million units, 100,000 more than in 1965.

Some 100,000 workers will be affected. Volkswagen management and leaders of the Metal Workers Union discussed Tuesday how the workers could be compensated for the loss in pay.

Pilot Plucked from Lake:

Blowing Saved Him

MUSKEGON (AP)—A Coast Guard rescue boat, two Civil Air Patrol planes and a healthy pair of lungs saved Robert P. Tromblee's life Tuesday.

Tromblee, of Mequon, Wis., was flying his twin-engine plane over Lake Michigan when he discovered a fire aboard. He radioed the Muskegon air tower that he was ditching the plane.

The Coast Guard boat and Civil Air Patrol planes got into action.

Tromblee hopped out of his plane. His life raft's special inflating device failed.

So Tromblee blew and blew until the raft was solid enough to support him.

He sent up flares. The planes radioed his position to the Coast Guard, and the boat picked him up.

Two hours later Tromblee was in good conditions—if a bit breathless—at Hackley Hospital in Muskegon.

Governor Critical Of State Autos For Lawmakers

LANSING (AP) — Liberalized mileage allowances and use of state cars by lawmakers — approved in the final session of the 73rd Legislature — received some criticism Tuesday from Gov. George Romney.

Asked his opinion of the House and Senate approved resolutions to give themselves the choice of using state-owned autos while on official business or continuing to receive a mileage allowance for use of their own cars, Romney said:

"I thought they had done pretty well by themselves recently on salaries."

The legislators this year raised their salaries from $10,000 a year to $12,500, starting next month. They also receive a $2,500 annual expense account.

Soviets Lavish Aid In Somalia

MOGADISHU, Somali Republic (AP) — Nearly $100 million worth of Soviet assistance has failed to make Communists out of the fiercely independent and traditionally democratic Somalis.

This little republic of 4.5 million largely nomadic people nevertheless is the major Soviet foothold in Africa south of the Sahara.

In their Moscow swimsuits, Soviet technicians and their wives crowd onto Mogadishu's Lido Beach together with Peace Corps teachers from the United States, German economic advisers, and businessmen from Italy.

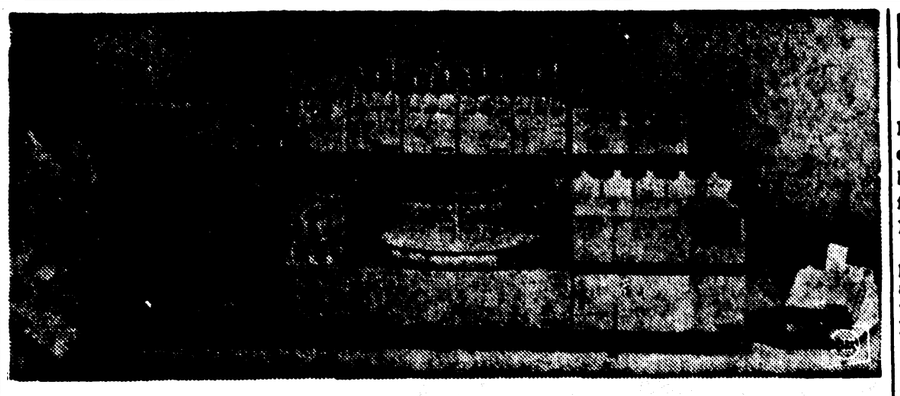
Some 250 Soviet military experts are training the Somali army in the use of $35 million worth of Soviet equipment. About 400 Somali cadets are training in the Soviet Union.

Soviet technicians have put a dairy plant in Mogadishu, a meat factory at Chisimayo in the south, and are building a big new port at Berbera in the north. They have installed Soviet transmitters at Radio Mogadishu. Soviet doctors are at work in Somali hospitals.

Plans for three big state farms on the Moscow pattern have been drastically scaled down.

There may be a total of 500 Soviet technicians, experts and advisers in Somalia. Many have their families with them.

"There is no doubt the Soviets are highly regarded," one Western diplomat says. "When Somalia rejected the West's pretty miserable offer of military aid, the Russians jumped in with a far more generous counteroffense. That boosted their popularity, but their economic assistance has been something of a flop."



ROBOT CHEMIST capable of performing 120 laboratory tests in an hour has been developed by Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. The six-foot, table-top, automated unit can perform medical research and disease diagnosis tests at a rate up to 40 times faster than manual methods and is expected to go far toward relieving a shortage of medical technologists. Once programmed, it can repeat a single test for days efficiently and can be switched over to a new test in less than five minutes. Industrial quality control and water-pollution monitoring operations are among practical applications forecast.

Car Follows Into House

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A high school senior returned home from class for a forgotten textbook recently, parked his car and ran in the house.

As William Kneller, 17, walked through the living room, book in hand, he heard a thud, saw the picture window shatter and the car bumper poke inside.

The car had rolled down an incline into the house. On its way, it also crumpled the gas meter, leaving the house heatless in 20-degree weather.

William's father drove him back to school.

Civilian Officials' Wives May Visit Saigon For Yule

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The U. S. Embassy announced today that wives of American civilian officials stationed in Vietnam can come to Saigon to visit their husbands during the Christmas holidays.

Deputy Ambassador William J. Porter directed that wives but no children could visit in Saigon from Dec. 23 until Jan. 3.

Some 2,000 wives, children and other dependents of U. S. officials were ordered out of Vietnam in February 1965, as a safety precaution. Many of them live in Bangkok, Manila and Hong Kong.

Ike May Be In Home For Yule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, doing well after removal of his gall bladder, may be home for Christmas at Gettysburg, Pa.

At least that's the hope expressed for him by authorities at Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he underwent surgery Monday.

Brig. Gen. Philip W. Mallory, commander of the hospital, told newsmen Tuesday that Eisenhower got out of bed in the forenoon, walked to a chair and sat for 25 minutes.

DETROIT (AP) — Fred Hopkins will become general sales manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division of General Motors Corp. on Jan. 1, succeeding Lee Mays, the firm has announced. Mays will become general sales manager at the Chevrolet Division.

School Board Approves Two U.S. Projects

The Escanaba Area Board of Education Tuesday gave its approval to two Elementary-Secondary Education Act project applications totaling $62,-525.

Both projects, if approved by the State Dept. of Education, will be funded entirely by the federal government under Title I of the act as will a third project for $11,160 scheduled to start in the junior high during the second semester of the current school year.

The two projects approved by the Board last night—a $51,675 developmental reading program and a $10,850 pre-school program—will begin this summer

About 560 students from grades kindergarten to six are expected to enroll in the developmental reading program to be conducted at the Lemmer and Webster elementary schools and Holy Name high school. The junior high program also focuses on reading development.

The pre-school program, a pilot project for the district, will be for 60 pre-kindergartners at the Washington school.

Small Sections Planned

Supt. Luther M. Barrett said the proposals had been drafted by a staff writing committee and approved by the Citizens' Planning Committee.

The reading program will last six weeks and, unlike last year's all-day sessions, will be conducted only in the morning. Plans call for two two-hour sessions, one from 8:30 to 10:30 and the other from 10:30 to 12:30.

A total of 35 teachers will be employed in the program, each teaching two sections of about eight students.

Barrett said the smaller sections will allow the teacher more time to give students individual attention needed in this type of reading improvement program.

The pre-school program would put students in four classes at Washington school for four hours per day for six weeks. The daily sessions would end with a hot lunch program at the junior high cafeteria. Four teachers and four teacher aides would be employed.

Like 'Head Start'

The program would be similar to the "Project Head Start" program, making an effort to give students the experiences necessary to prepare them for kindergarten.

In other business, the Board approved contracts for three new teachers for the second semester to replace three teachers who are leaving employment.

James H. Wills, who will graduate this semester from Northern Michigan University, will take over high school chemistry; Ruth Dubbelde, a teacher in the Dearborn Heights system for the past 4½ years, will teach second grade at Lemmer, and Mrs. George (Eleanor) Grenholm of Escanaba, who has formerly taught in the Escanaba system, will teach sixth grade at Webster.

Leaving the system are Kathy Feller, general science; Mimi Andary, Lemer second; and Paul Ristvedt, Webster sixth. Donald McKie, who has been teaching chemistry, will move back to general science with employment of Wills as a chemistry teacher.

Invite Speaker

The Board also approved advertising for bids for removal of five houses on sites for new schools at Washington and Franklin, accepted the report of Roy Hivila, principal of the junior high, on curriculum, discussed athletic scheduling problems with Harold Johnson, director of athletics, and approved an invitation to Dr. S. Douglas Cornell, president of Mackinac College, to speak at the high school commencement program this spring.

Gary Lewis Gets Draft Recheck

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian Jerry Lewis' son Gary — who makes $250,000 a year as a rock 'n roll bandleader—awaited word today on his chances of becoming an $80-a-month Army private.

The 21-year-old singer showed up for induction Tuesday with a letter from his physician. Afterward an Army spokesman said, "The induction has been delayed on the basis of new evidence. A new examination has been ordered to verify the evidence."

A MULTI-PURPOSE ROOM addition to the Wells School of the Escanaba Area School district is rapidly taking shape under Howard Herrild Builders, Menominee. Although the roof of the room has not been completed, brick work is advancing on sides. The room is expected to be ready for use by the next school year. (Daily Press Photo)

School Building Changes OK'd

Additions and changes to elementary school construction projects totaling $17,349 were approved Tuesday by the Escanaba Area Board of Education.

The items had been originally included in building plans, but were cut when it appeared the bids on the new schools and additions would exceed financing available from the $1.45 million bond issue approved last February.

Final contracts on additions at Wells, Lemmer and Soo Hill and on the new Washington School and Junior high boiler plant were below estimates, allowing the trimmed items to be restored, according to Supt. Luther M. Barrett.

Construction has begun on all projects, except the new Washington school and the junior high boiler plant.

Restored to the contracts for Southside and Franklin schools were sidewalks, $8,203; vinyl-asbestos tile, $1,170; tile in storage rooms, $212; painting in storage rooms, $895, and cabinets in kitchens, $2,125.

The changes at Washington school and the boiler plant included substitution of vinyl-asbestos tile, $250; a different type of mechanical control, $300, and underground electrical service, $4,194.

Changes were all recommended Architect Norm Arntzen, G. Arntzen & Co., Escanaba.

Ore Record Set At Marquette

MARQUETTE — A record year of iron ore shipping was brought to a close Tuesday afternoon with the clearance of the ore carrier Tom M. Girdler from the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad dock.

The departure of the Girdler with 11,631 tons of ore for Republic Steel mills in South Chicago brought the 1966 shipments from this port to 7,125,-442 tons. This tonnage was located from two docks into 530 vessels.

Last year the LS&I and the Soo Line loaded 6,312,176 tons of ore into 518 boats.

The previous record of 6,-975,991 tons was set here in 1964.

At Escanaba the Chicago & North Western continues to load ore and expects to end the season late next week, if weather conditions continue favorable.

The North Western hopes to set a new record of shipments in excess of the 6,571,508 tons loaded in 1960.

Morrell Inquiry Resumes Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Coast Guard board of inquiry is set to resume its hearing Wednesday into the sinking of the ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the board would question Capt. T. J. Connelly and J. F. Perrine, master and chief engineer of the Morrell's sister ship, Edward Y. Townsend.

The Townsend suffered a crack in the deck during the same storm which sunk the Morrell and killed 28 of the ship's 29 crewmen in Lake Huron Nov. 29.

The survivor, 26-year-old Dennis Hale of Ashtabula, Ohio, is expected to testify before the board Tuesday.

The board recessed its hearing last Wednesday after three days of testimony.

Meanwhile, in Harbor Beach, three skin divers prepared to investigate the hulk of a ship believed to be the Morrell. The hulk is about 26 miles off Harbor Beach, the area in which survivor Hale said the Morrell sank.

Thefts Of Signs Gets Expensive

The city plans to investigate junk dealers who might buy stolen signs as scrap metal.

Many Long For Christmas Past

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody really loves Christmas.

Some may say they don't like Christmas for this reason, or they don't like it for that reason.

But what their complaints come down to, if put under a long look, is this: They are afraid to put their heart into this Christmas because they are lonesome for some Christmas before.

This can be understood.

The human heart must look ahead to do its duty; but the human heart must look behind also to know that it has been faithful to its highway.

"Tell me how Christmas was in the old days," a sensitive child may ask of his elders today.

Well, child, so glad you asked. Go fetch a branch from the hearth—careful, don't burn yourself, son-and help Grandpa light his old corncob pipe, and he'll be happy to tell you how Christmas was in the old days.

He can close his eyes, and take a puff, and remember when—

Handmade Ornaments

Most of the ornaments on the Christmas tree were handmade.

Any decoration that wasn't homemade was fervently believed, as was any glass eye in the neighborhood, to come from Czechoslovakia. So was the cut glass bowl on the golden oak sideboard.

Anything from Czechoslovakia was fragile and reflected light and was prized because it represented an exotic distinction. It stood for a kind of class.

The Christmas tree, as often as not, was selected after a venturesome trip in the family car —interrupted by three flat tires —to the countryside, and hacked down in person and taken home in triumph.

Those who didn't have an automobile would lug it to the nearest trolley line and bring it home by streetcar. The motorman laughed, and the conductor charged no fare for the tree. As a matter of fact, he wouldn't collect a fare for any member of the family who was smaller in height than the tree.

Everybody liked the tree all around except mother.

"It has to be put this way," she said critically, turning its least limbs of wealth to the wall. Everybody agreed that she had the perfect eye to show its splendor to the best advantage.

Popcorn And Cranberries

Everybody went into the kitchen and popped popcorn except Papa. Everybody but Papa got out needles and thread and wove strands of white popcorn and red cranberries around and around and around the green lifted arms of the tree.

Then Papa perched perilously on a chair and fixed to the peak of hte tree a five-pointed star made from the tinfoil of cigarette packages.

There were no electric lights. Candles in tin holders were clipped to the outer boughs of the tree, and carefully lit, and there blazed a yuletide glory—a lighted tree that was the bonfire of the family heart.

Then the sleepy children hung up their stockings with care, and on leaden feet trudged to bed, overcome with a drowsy excitement.

Christmas Orange

During the night Santa Claus came down the chimney.

When the children pawed themselves awake and ran shivering downstairs in their long winter underwear they found in each stocking a golden fresh orange—the only one they knew all year long except if they were ill—and nuts and striped white and red and green candy.

And piled in a small heap under the tree were the toys and presents from Santa Claus for the family to play with and to wear and to share. The room erupted in tumult.

"Is this for me? See what I got? Is this for both of us? Please, can I try it first? Now it's my turn. Well, all right, me next."

And Papa came down and lit the fire.

O Santa Claus, thank you, thank you!

That was christmas then.

Romney Lauds Policy Group

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney praised the Republican Coordinating Committee Tuesday as a recognized national policy making body that "played a real role in the last election."

Romney, who attended a committee meeting Monday in Washington, said all committee members recognized that "the Republicans have done a unique thing politically."

"The creation of the committee brought together national leadership that can effectively determine policy between elections," Romney said. "There has been acceptance of the committee as a national policy making body."

The coordinating committee membership includes the party's former presidential nominees, congressional leaders, national GOP officials and several governors.

It meets periodically to define party policy on national issues.

Homemakers Enjoy Annual Holiday Tea

The annual Extension Homemakers holiday tea was held Tuesday afternoon at the Bethany Lutheran Church in Escanaba and despite the postponing of the event from a previous date there was a very large attendance.

Mrs. Jack Johnson of Gladstone was mistress of ceremonies for the event and the afternoon began with the singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Hupy.

The program for the day was entitled, "Christmas in Other Lands," and five ladies dressed in the costume of the country they represented gave sketches of what Christmas is like in other countries. Mrs. Bernard Grenier of Garden told of Christmas in Spain; Mrs. Harvey Gasman, Escanaba, Norway; Mrs. Albert Rasmussen, Sweden; Mrs. Lee Larson of Gladstone, Germany and Mrs. William McDermott of Garden told about Australia.

In addition to the interesting talks there were also several items from these countries displayed including dolls, cards and a charming gingerbread house from Germany, a lovely creche from Spain and several homemade knitted items from the Scandinavian countries.

Concluding the program was a musical program presented by the Gladstone 4-H girl's "Spanish Combo." Participating were Kathy Madden, Julie Williams, Ruth Ann Martin, Colleen Cannon, Cindy LaFleur and Kathy Hirn. The girls are directed and accompanied by Mrs. Donald Hirn.

Presiding at the silver services during the tea were Mrs. Robert Thompson of Cornell and Mrs. Sheldon Cobb of Stonington.

Throughout the meeting room were various displays of Christmas items which were made by the extension groups throughout the county. All of the items were very attractive and clever and included a candelabra made from a chain, poinsettas made from wild tobacco and sprayed with red paint; table centerpieces made from tin cans, painted and decorated; tin foil Christmas trees; many varieties of candles and one very outstanding display was a group of tree balls made with glue and straight pins. The designs were very intricate which resulted in very unusual and lovely ornaments.

Many pairs of mittens were also brought for the mitten trees which are holiday projects sponsored annually by the extension service. The trees when completed are given to the Salvation Army and the Gladstone Child Welfare Group.

Committees for the day included the Northside Jills group; Bay View, Cornell, Sew and Sews, New Horizon and the Skilled Jills. Miss Ingrid Tervonen is the Michigan State Home Extension Agent for this area.

School District Study Discussed

RAPID RIVER—Seven Delta County school districts were represented by a total of 28 people Monday at a meeting with Russ Wilson of the University of Michigan Bureau of Social Services who discussed "What A School Study Entails."

The meeting at Rapid River Elementary School was called by Raymond L. Godmer, Delta - Schoolcraft Intermediate School District superintendent, at request of several of the districts.

Godmer said today the group took no action, although another meeting is expected to be called sometime in March. The meeting was primarily for information, he said.

School districts represented at the meeting were Gladstone, Rapid River, Flat Rock, Rock, Trenary, Baldwin and Brampton Townships.

In July, a proposal to merge Gladstone, Rapid River, Baldwin, Brampton, Flat Rock and Rock districts was overwhelmingly defeated 891 to 111. School officials from districts involved at the time indicated that further study was needed on the question of district reorganization in the area.

Wilson said factors to be considered in a school study include transportation, curriculum, financial support and tax base, and size of the district.

Attending the meeting were from Brampton, E. H. Heitman, J. W. Van DeWeghe, Mrs. Josephine Ducheny and Raymond Tackman; Flat Rock, Ralph McGeary; Gladstone, Claire Hoehn, Grant Hess, William A. Swenson Jr., Jerome Becvar, and Wallace Cameron; Baldwin, Frank Falkeis, Glenn Anderson, Alvin Robbins and Joseph Vestich; Trenary, George Hager, W. E. Davis, Glenn L. Peterson and Richard Carlson; Rock, Mrs. Helen Johnson, Ahti Waak, and George Weingartner; Rapid River, Bill Larsen, Waldon Johnson Jr., Ernest Vanderhoff and Walter Peters.

Also atending were Charles Follo of Escanaba and Norman Slough and Stanley Dominick of Rapid River.

Super Bowl Players To Get Big Payday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Super Bowl is definitely set for Sunday, Jan. 15, at the Los Angeles Coliseum with Green Bay and Kansas City only one win away from the big money date.

The Packers, having clinched the Western Conference title of the National Football League, must beat Dallas or St. Louis, the two teams still having a chance at the Eastern Conference crown, in the NFL title game Jan. 1 in the Eastern winner's park.

Kansas City, the Western Division champs of the AFL, must defeat either Boston or Buffalo for the AFL championship Jan. 1 in the park of the Eastern winner.

Under a unique arrangement between the television network (CBS) which carries all NFL games and the network (NBC) which beams all AFL games, the Super Bowl will be shared by CBS and NBC. There will be a blackout in the Los Angeles area.

The television fee for the first Super Bowl will be $2 million. The rights will cost $2.5 million each year for the remaining years of the agreement running through 1970. CBS will have the game exclusively in 1968 and 1970 and NBC in 1969. After 1970 the two leagues will be merged into one unit. The total four-year contract calls for $9.5 million.

The postseason dates have been reshuffled to permit the two league champions two weeks of rest before the Super Bowl. The AFL title game at Boston or Buffalo, originally set for Dec. 26, will be played at 1 p.m. EST Sunday, Jan. 1. The NFL game, at Dallas or St. Louis, will be played the same day, starting at 4 p.m. EST.

While the two winners rest and then start to prepare for the big game, the two second-place teams in the NFL will play their Playoff Bowl game Sunday, Jan. 8, in the Orange Bowl at Miami as originally scheduled.

In the Jan. 15 Super Bowl, which may draw a $3-million gate with a sellout of 93,000, each player on the winning team gets $15,000 and each loser $7,500. Seventy per cent of the receipts, after expenses and rental, go to the players in shares or to their Player Benefit Plan pension fund in both leagues.

It is possible for a player to make as much as $8,000 in a league title game and an additional $15,000 in the Super Bowl for a total of $23,000.

The new contract was announced jointly Tuesday by Commissioner Pete Rozelle and Bill MacPhail, vice president CBS TV Sports, and Carl Lindemann Jr., vice president NBC Sports.

Rozelle said the two All-Star games had been rescheduled.

The AFL All-Star game, originally set for Jan. 14, will be played Saturday, Jan. 21, at Oakland. The NFL Pro Bowl, or All-Star game, will be played Sunday, Jan. 22, at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The 6 foot 1 inch junior deadeye fluttered the nets with 13 field goals and 10 of 12 free throws for 36 points to lead the Redskins to the top of the conference ladder.

The victory was the third straight in Big Seven warfare for Coach Don Hill's cagers. It was their fourth in five starts overall.

Hermansville shot with deadly accuracy from the field and the foul line. The Redskins tossed in 30 of 52 attempts from the court and added 21 of 28 from the charity line. The Tigers made 27 of 77 from the field and 8 of 17 from the line.

Fochesato had able assistance from Doug LaCoursier who tallied 17 points and John Whitens with 15. Three Tigers reached double figures with Roger Stebbins hitting 16 points, Jim Charles 14 and Tom Smith 10. Stebbins was the leading rebounder with 13.

The setback squared Coach Tom LeQuia's Powers record for the season at 3-3.

Powers won the jayvee preliminary, 53-47, in overtime.

Eben Downs Bronco Five

BARK RIVER — Eben pulled away to a 22-15 lead over the Bark River-Harris Broncos in the first quarter here Tuesday night and hung on for a 56-47 Central League victory.

After the Eagles boosted their margin to 30-20 at the half, the Broncos found the range to outscore their foe by one point in the last two quarters but were unable to wipe out the big early deficit.

Paul Salminen took individual scoring honors for Eben with 27 points.

Bark River won the jayvee game, 46-40.

Cooks Finally Beats Rockets

COOKS— It was a long time coming, but the Cooks Clippers finally defeated the Rapid River Rockets in a basketball game.

Coach Norm Jahn's cagers trimmed the defending Central League champs by a 54-35 margin here Tuesday night. It was the first time a Cooks team had accomplished that feat since the 1952-53 season when Bob Thibault was the Clipper tutor.

Cooks won in spite of a cold shooting night in which the Clippers connected on only 19 percent of their shots in the first half. They led by a 16-13 margin at the intermission. Niel Hartman found the range for six field goals in the third period, however, and Cooks pulled steadily out of reach. Hartman finished with 20 points for individual scoring honors while Mike Carley and Clayton Hill gave Cooks a solid rebounding performance.

Cooks also won the jayvee game, 56-44.

Eight Packers Named On Grid Honor Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay and Dallas dominated the National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press today by a committee of sports writers and sportscasters.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, who have clinched the Western Conference title, placed eight men on the first team—three on offense and five on defense.

The Dallas Cowboys, who can nail down the Eastern Conference title this weekend, placed four on the first club—one on offense and three on defense.

The All-Star squad positions were divided among 11 teams. The Los Angeles Rams had two and no other club more than one. Washington, Pittsburgh, New York and Atlanta did not put a player on the first team.

Bart Starr, the Packers' quarterback who has had his best year, was joined by tackle Forrest Gregg and guard Jerry Kramer on the offensive team.

The Packers' five-man defensive contingent included end Willie Davis, linebackers Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey, cornerback Herb Adderley and safety Willie Wood.

Bob Hayes, the fleet split end, was Dallas' only starter on offense. The Cowboys placed tackle Bob Lilly, linebacker Chuck Howley and cornerback Cornell Green on the defensive club.

Los Angeles had two members of its defensive unit on the first team—end Dave Jones and tackle Merlin Olsen.

Joining Starr in the first string backfield were running backs Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears and Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns and flanker Pat Studstill of the Detroit Lions.

John Mackey, Baltimore tight end, was a winner along with Bob Brown of Philadelphia and Gregg at tackle. John Thomas of San Francisco and Kramer were choices for starting guards with Mike Tingelhoff of Minnesota at center.

St. Louis Cardinals placed one man on the All-Star squad—Larry Wilson, safety on the defensive unit.

'In Cold Blood' Director Avoids Big Name Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His secretary brought Richard Brooks a pre-lunch Bloody Mary, and the writer-director sipped it as he agonized over his chore of translating "In Cold Blood" to the screen.

The book was the work of Truman Capote, the noted party-giver, who invited Brooks and wife Jean Simmons to his recent masked ball. Brooks declined the invitation — "I'm not much for parties." Besides, he had his work cut out for him: making a compact, playable script out of Capote's "non-fiction novel" about the murder of a Kansas family by two ex-convicts.

"I'm supposed to start shooting in the Midwest in late February-early March, and I'm only half-finished with the script," Brooks sighed. "Frankly, I don't know how the hell it's going to end.

Ending Is There

"Oh, the ending is there: the two guys get executed. But what is the picture going to say when it's all over? It's one thing to write a book about an atrocious crime and view it in a reportorial manner. But a film is different.

"There are a million people who will be ready to criticize me for how I treat the material. Many will want me to include everything in the book, and that would mean a 14-hour movie."

Because of his writing, Brooks hasn't been able to get around to other production chores as yet. He has cast only one performer — television actor Robert Blake, who will play one of the criminals, Perry Smith.

Holds To Policy

"I'm still holding to the policy of choosing non-stars, despite phony reports that names are being considered.

"I'm avoiding stars to achieve reality, but also for a practical reason: I can't afford them. I've told Columbia that this picture must be made as cheaply as possible because I don't expect it to have wide appeal. It may be too honest for the public."

Brooks expects to film "In Cold Blood" at the actual scene of the killings in Holcomb, Kan.; in the real courtroom and jail at Garden City; the Kansas Penitentiary, if permission is granted; and in other locations at Las Vegas, Reno and Elko in Nevada, Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan.; plus interiors in Hollywood.

Swimming Pool Is Recommended By Youth Group

The Youth Group of 24 students of Escanaba's two high schools met at the City Hall at 7 p. m. Monday to discuss and propose ideas for the planned recreation building.

Chairman of the discussion was James Henderson, physical education instructor of Bay de Noc Community College.

The youths strongly recommended a swimming pool at the recreation site, which would be open year around. Other suggested proposals were: A health room, steam bath, exercise equipment, rifle range, roller skating, facilities for archery and golfing, T. V. lounge; also a nursery for younger children, smoking areas, organization for women as well as men, and some type of sports appreciation class, indoor track and parking facilities at the recreation site.

The students also pondered the question: "Would the use of the building be for certain groups?"
